CAPSTONE CHOREOGRAPER BIOGRAPHIES:

Jasmine Burns began her dance training in Houston, Texas at a young age as a part of Carla Silvani's drill team, The Dancing Divas. Ever since her first dance experience she had a great passion for movement and performance. Growing up, Jasmine participated in several dance teams and classes, both competitively and recreational. In high school, she began more serious technical dance training at Revolution Dance Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado with the support of Antonia Freehling and several other dance teachers.

Jasmine then decided to continue her dance training at Colorado State University as a dance major, where she received incredible dance training including: ballet, modern, choreography, pedagogy from Chung-Fu Chang, Madeline Harvey, Matthew Harvey, Judy Bejarano, and Emily Morgan. She participated in several master classes from established dance professionals and dance companies including, Aspen Santa Fe Ballet, Complexions, Keigwin and Company, and Martha Graham Dance Company. Jasmine has an honor to be featured in many dance faculty and renowned guest choreographers' work, Le Corsaire Suite by Marius Petipa (Restaged and Adapted by Madeline Harvey); Ricochet, Matthew Harvey; Reconfigure, Madeline Harvey; Of Breath, Wind and Skyline, Judy Bejarano; These Moments... Between, This, In Time, This Moment, Amber Mazurano; fly in elegant mobs, Emily Morgan; Snow, Salvatore Aiello (Staged by Madeline Harvey); The Waiting Room, Salvatore Aiello (Staged by Jerri Kumery). Her choreography has been selected to present in two CSU Spring Dance Concerts, Body/Speak, and the American College Dance Association regional conference in Washington State. Jasmine has balanced her dance studies with her academic studies which has earned her the honor of being on the dean's list for four years consecutively. She has also been a recipient of several academic and dance scholarships including the CUS Green and Gold scholarship, CSU Partnership Award, Creative and Performing Art Dance Scholarship, and the Grace & Dwight Harris Dance Scholarship.

Jasmine had the opportunity to work as an intern for Ormao Dance Company in Colorado Springs for company under the direction of the artistic director, Jan Johnson. She has participated in multiple summer and winter dance intensives including the Summer Workshop for Emerging Artists of Today (S.W.E.A.T.) with Move(NYC) in New York City, American Dance Festival Winter Intensive in New York City, and the Rogue Dance Company Winter Intensive in Boulder, Colorado.

Jasmine plans on moving to NYC and pursuing a concert dance career and one day making her way to the Broadway stage. Her passion lies not only in performance, but also in choreography and she would love to one day form her own dance company with a group of close friends. Jasmine would like to thank her loving family for supporting her dreams and helping her reach her goals. Also thanks to all of her friends, mentors, and supporters for always being encouraging and loving.

Alayna Maddocks first fell in love with dance when she began her training in a health club kids program in Windsor, Colorado, when she was 3 years old. When this program grew to become a studio, known as A Dance Place, Alayna followed them, which began the core of her pre-college training. The studio was more club based, and did not have a competition team, but focused on teamwork, personal growth in a class setting, and performance basics. Eventually, this studio also helped harbor and grow Alayna's love for teaching, directing her career pathway and college decision. In the fall of 2014, she transferred to Ridgeview Classical Schools, and took social dance classes there, causing her to fall in love with partner work and East coast Swing.

In college, Alayna has taken ballet and modern classes with Professors Jane Slusarski-Harris, James Wallace, Chung-Fu Chang, Madeline Harvey, Matthew Harvey, and Judy Bejarano. She has taken pedagogy classes with Professors Judy Bejarano, Lisa Morgan, and Grace Gallaghah. Over the course of her college career, she has taken master classes with Martha Graham Dance Company, with ORMAO's Janet Johnson, an improvisation master class with Andrew Wass, as well as an African Dance class, and a belly dance class. She had the opportunity to travel to NDEO conference in San Diego in October, 2019. During her time at CSU, Alayna has choreographed a duet and an ensemble piece that were both showcased in the Fall Dance Concert and the Spring Dance Concert. She has performed in Sal Aielo's Senza Fretta, and Snow, as well as in three capstone shows, in Professor Chung-Fu Chang's work Riding Cloud Away,

Outside of her work in CSU, she has taught at A Dance Place, Studio West, and Canyon Concert Ballet, as well as taught out of her home for six years prior to leaving for college. Her proudest accomplishment was teaching out of her home, where she taught kids whose parents could not afford to send their children to studios. It was a nonprofit that performed in senior living centers, in basement theaters, and a school. She hopes to one day reopen her studio, standing by the idea that dance is for everyone, and should not be exclusive on account of money.

Alayna hopes to grow her career as an instructor in local studios, as well as pursue choreography opportunities locally and nationally, as they arise. While she may audition for a few companies, the focus of her love for dance has always been in the rewarding act of teaching, and she cannot wait to do so full time once she graduates.

Shayleen Moses was born and raised in Denver, Colorado and has always had a passion for movement. Shayleen Moses started her dance training at the age of six at Cleo Parker Robinson, where she experienced her first ballet class. The summer of 2012 she attended Hip Hop classes also at Cleo Parker Robinson. It wasn't until her brief training at Encore dance studio where she really became invested in the Jazz dance style. Once she started her sophomore year of high school, Shayleen began taking dance classes at her high school and joined their first ever POMS/competition team. From there Shayleen started engaging in musical theatre and has performed in Anne, Once Upon a Mattress, and last but not least Beauty and the Beast. Towards the end of her high school career, Shayleen was accepted into the CSU Dance department and was ready for the next step.

Shayleen started her journey with CSU, fall semester of 2016 where she started a new dance chapter within her life. At CSU, Ms. Moses has trained in ballet, modern, choreography, pedagogy and has attended master classes from Aspen Santa Fe Ballet, Ormao Dance Company, Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo, Maputo Mensah, Momix, Jerri Kumeri, Push Dance Theatre, Canada's Ballet Jörgen and more. Shayleen was also selected to perform in a couple of dance faculty's works for programs such as the fall and spring dance concerts. Piece's such as Letters to Theo by Judy Bejarano and Le Corsaire Suite restaged and adapted by Madeline Harvey. Ms. Moses has also performed in many student works such as Loud Silence...She Spoke by Mohammed York, Unexpected Goodbyes by Jasmine Burns and many more. Shayleen has been awarded a Dance Scholarship in the 2019 spring semester and continues to strive for more.

Outside of her major Shayleen has performed within Xpressions where she took master classes from Gina Medina, M-pact and others. Danced with the CSU Hip Hop club with Hailey Morton and even performed in the 2019 Spring Drag Show. Within her senior year here she has performed in the Fall Senior Capstone, choreographed the opening dance for B/AACC's Homecoming Royalty Pageant, she was invited to perform at the CSU Martin Luther King Jr. Ceremony Preservation to Manifestation as well as the 2020 Black History Month Kick Off Celebration.

Shayleen's college dance experience isn't done yet! She will be taking an extra year, allowing her to continue to work on her technical training as she figures out what she wants to do once she graduates in May 2021. Ms. Moses knows for sure that whatever she does with her future plans will be from God's plans. Shayleen would like to thank all of her professors, stage crew, lighting crew, costume crew and everyone else involved for helping her through this process by making her ideas come to life. A thank you to her siblings for always being a source of inspiration and great support. Thank you to her parents (including Step/Godparents) and grandparents for always making sure that she's able to pursue her goals. Finally, a special thank you to all of her friends and boyfriend for always being a great support system, without you all she wouldn't have bloomed as beautifully as she does.
